

Database Updates for 2.01 and earlier stopping now

Posted by UPMAN - 01 Feb 2012 19:07

---

Effective immediately we will no longer support firmware versions 2.01 and earlier with database updates. In order to continue to get weekly database updates, you must be sure that Sentinel and your HomePatrol-1 are running at version 2.02 or later.

If you have not yet applied the updates, complete instructions can be found at the HomePatrol Wiki .

Updates for version 2.02 (and later) will now be issued on the normal Monday Morning schedule.

=====

Re: Database Updates for 2.01 and earlier stopping now

Posted by vroderick - 02 Feb 2012 17:48

---

UPMan wrote:

Effective immediately we will no longer support firmware versions 2.01 and earlier with database updates. In order to continue to get weekly database updates, you must be sure that Sentinel and your HomePatrol-1 are running at version 2.02 or later.

If you have not yet applied the updates, complete instructions can be found at the HomePatrol Wiki .

Updates for version 2.02 (and later) will now be issued on the normal Monday Morning schedule.

Hi Paul.....

The link in your post appears to be invalid, looks like it has a double &quot;http&quot; in it.

=====

Re: Database Updates for 2.01 and earlier stopping now

Posted by KE4ZNR - 02 Feb 2012 17:55

---

The URL should now be fixed. Thanks for the heads up vroderick! :)

Happy Monitoring

Marshall KE4ZNR

=====

Re: Database Updates for 2.01 and earlier stopping now

Posted by Shrek - 13 Apr 2015 22:45

---

I have a home patrol one since early 2011. it has firmware version 2.03. is it worth the updates? local police in anchorage are encrypted. the scanner was a used gift from my uncle....thks for advice.

=====